Message from the General Manager

It is my pleasure to write to you as the new General Manager at Buderim Private Hospital. I am honoured and excited to have been selected to lead this wonderful hospital and build on the solid foundations already in place.

My most recent role was Chief Executive Officer/Chief Nursing Officer with St Vincent's Private Hospital in Melbourne where I was responsible for driving high clinical standards; the introduction and implementation of innovative technology; and building additional theatres.

Earlier in my career, I held a number of roles including General Manager/Director of Nursing at St Vincent's Private Hospital, Director of Nursing and Operations at The Royal Melbourne Hospital, and Hospital Manager/Director of Nursing and Midwifery at Mercy Hospital for Women.

From the moment I first visited Buderim Private Hospital, I had the immediate sense that this is a very special place with passionate and dedicated staff and doctors and I am very pleased to join this amazing team.

Building on the hospital's strong track record of success is a challenge I've accepted with confidence and determination. My vision is to further enhance and develop our unique blend of care, commitment and expertise to consistently exceed the needs and expectations of our patients, their families and the community.

I am looking forward to meeting you at future events and meetings, sharing news to benefit you and your patients, as well as hearing any feedback you may have about the hospital and the services we provide.

Kind regards,

Karen Clark

General Manager

100th robotic procedure celebrated

Our surgical team recently celebrated its 100th robotic surgical procedure. Introduced in October 2017, the hospital invested over $3 million in Da Vinci Xi surgical robotic system.

The hospital's first robotic procedure was a radical prostatectomy which was conducted by Urologist Dr Tim Nathan. Urologist Dr Troy Gianduzzo has also conducted a number of procedures using the technology.

A first for the Sunshine Coast, General Surgeon Dr David Colledge conducted the Sunshine Coast's first general surgical case in July 2018.

Congratulations to the entire team for their dedication and expertise that has helped make this technology a reality for so many Sunshine Coast patients who can feel assured that world-class technology and highly-trained surgeons are available locally.

The introduction of this service was closely developed and implemented with support from The Wesley Hospital which is also part of the UnitingCare. The Wesley Hospital has the largest robotic program in Australia and was the first hospital in the country with two Da Vinci surgical robotic systems.

Staff profile - Introducing Tara Cantillon

Welcome to our newest Clinical Nurse Manager, Tara Cantillon!

Tara joins the Buderim Private Hospital team in the role of Clinical Nurse Manager of the Maternity and Women's Health Unit (1A).

Tara has 24 years experience in the healthcare industry in both Australia and overseas.

Tara acquired her midwifery qualification in Scotland in 2000 and also holds a Graduate Diploma of Critical Care. Tara comes to us from the Mercy Hospital for Women in Melbourne where she has held several different roles. Tara has also maintained her ICU skills working in the ICU at Box Hill Hospital.

Tara is passionate about providing the best individualised care for all women and is keen to maintain the hospital’s focus on patient-centred care and the high standards that already exist within Buderim Private Hospital.

“Working as a midwife is a very dynamic job but I absolutely love it – since I was a teenager all I’ve ever really wanted to do is deliver babies,” she said.

“I went ahead and studied midwifery and 20 years down the track I still love it and feel very blessed. If I had my time over I would do exactly the same thing. It is absolutely incredible to witness a birth and the transformative affect it has on people.”

“People often say that ICU and maternity are very different but talk in my opinion both areas have their miracles and both areas have their tragedies so I believe that having my ICU qualification has been a great complement to my midwifery skills.”

“Everyone has been wonderful and very welcoming and supportive so I’m loving working here at the hospital and living on the Sunshine Coast,” she said.

Did you know?

Did you know that the hospital's wards and corridors are filled with images from local photographer Ross Eason?

Hospitals around the world recognise the important role art plays as a healing tool. In a sometimes stressful environment, the arts can benefit patients by aiding their physical, mental and emotional recovery.

Ross worked with the hospital to theme and create subtle differences from ward to ward and also they have a common story, that being the Sunshine Coast.

Pictured is Ross Eason with General Manager, Karen Clark, in front of one of his beautiful images of Buderim which is located in our Critical Care Unit.
